

James

Work experience- Doing every day gardening tasks for his local foundation.

James has shown lots of progression and can now safely travel in the community and has gained confidence in household skills.

James' mum told us:

“James regularly says his best part of the day is something he did at college. That NEVER happened at school! It's just a shame he can't stay at Petty Pool longer!”

James thinks a job outside would suit him. He was introverted when he started as he's very wary of new people and places. He gradually found his feet and had amazing support from all the staff.

James attended a school where it was identified during his initial visit that he would benefit from an extended transition to alleviate his anxieties and prepare him for starting college.

James has now settled into his 2nd year of his vocation and enjoys his learning. He confidently talks to unfamiliar people and communicates well with the group, James has good knowledge and shares his ideas and stories to his peers, which is great to see.

James has overcome barriers to transition from one classroom to another and meet a variety of tutors along the way, James has pushed his ability to grow in confidence and is succeeding in all aspects of his curriculum.

Tutor:

“James's small steps from transition has developed into long woodland strides!”
